RE: Upcoming NCE Filing Window

We recently became aware that the FCC is discussing final rules regarding the upcoming NCE filing window. The undersigned, representing Capital Community Television (CCTV) in Salem, Oregon, requests guidelines that ensure implementation of an efficient and effective filing window. We fully support the points system to resolve mutual exclusivity. We ask for further guidelines that enable delivery of the original intent—making channels available for local and regional non-profits and educational institutions. We recommend:

1. Limiting filers to 10 applications

This limit enables local applications while preventing mass applications by a single individual or group that could overwhelm the processing system and delay use of the channels. Limiting applications will also allow the limited number of engineers and communications attorneys to service the field.

2. Providing a minimum 90 day filing window ending no earlier than January 2008

This filing window provides ample time for the public to participate and to take critical decisions to Boards and other decision-makers.

3. Dividing the filing geographically

Multiple windows will allow the applicants, engineers and attorneys time to focus and prepare the applications.

We truly appreciate this filing opportunity and the community-based service that can be provided using the radio channels.

Sincerely,

Alan Bushong
Executive Director, Capital Community Television
